views on the main page and the individual forums are at a dynamic width. In the individual thread views however, page width exceeds my screen dimensions.

Anyone else experience this?

Jack
I posted a watch that was approx a screen and a half wide I did ask if all posted pics could all be the same size have the same problem. You can use the scrollbar to see the rest (workaround), but think the administrators have to look for a solution.

I'm not seeing it here. I'm on the new green theme, not using user_left or user_right. I take a look around though.
