
Subject: Re: Is this a 1938 Curvex Majesty?

Posted by dr.raul on Tue, 22 Oct 2019 13:40:03 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thank you, no I haven't a pic of the movement.

I am looking for a nice Majesty but frankly this dial doesn't inspire me much, I know many were restored and for collector's sake it's better an original dial than a restored one, but this is beyond some age pitting that can be also pleasant.

I know it is very difficult to find a clean dial after 80 years in watches that surely weren't well sealed.

Anyway, how much do you think could be a fair price for a watch in this condition?

He asks about $2700 for it and it seems way too much to me
