Well, this arrived today, and it turns out to be exactly what I'd hoped. First, though, what it's not: it is not lever set, and it's not 7 3/4 L. I measure just over 8 L, and what I mistook to be a lever is an appendage to anchor it in the case. Apologies for not knowing the correct term. The dial back is blank—no help there.

On to what it is: I believe it's a little old cousin to the Cal 89. I thought as much when I saw the stud carrier in the listing (note one screw is detached, so it's rotated 180deg from correct), but take a look at the setting works.

Giving you a perspective of its amazingly small size—I just find it fascinating!
