

---

Subject: Re: Swamp finds...

Posted by Case on Mon, 07 Dec 2020 04:29:46 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I note the 87 has a "5" plus same sn style & orientation as mine on front plate. Gary's illustrations are bringing us close, but the EP designation would've come almost a decade later. Possible the layouts changed and/or size (we've noted size changes before)

It is speculation, but this may have bearing on the mystery mark seen on the 839. A stylized L & J mark? I am wondering if he is our ebauche supplier to Favre (& Ditisheim) for the EP movements I've assumed were Favre, some being reverse engineered into in house Favre calibers ca1920. There's a lot here to decipher. Thanks to all you real researchers—my brain is

---