Yes. It's amazing to me that the unpadded strap with stitching squared off at the end was the norm for for almost 40 years, and now nobody makes them, especially narrower vintage sizes, like 14mm. And I'm pretty sure that IW has gone under. I used to buy directly from them, but haven't been able to get an order in for about five years. I think what's on eBay is leftover stock, which is probably why more common sizes no longer seem to be available.
