Ah, yes, I see, Mr. Ranfft says:

380: 16.75", 17 jewels

381: 16.75", 15 jewels

386: 17.5", 15 jewels

He also mentions that caliber 380/81 were introduced 1939, whereas the 385/86 are mentioned with a 1946 introduction date which would fit the observations. May be the only modification was a wider base plate?

And may be, they coexisted for a while?
