Hi. I'm new to Vintage Gruen and want to collect veri-thin. If anyone has anything for sale or knows of best places to buy, please let me know.

I hate to say it, but I think eBay is the primary answer. Maybe Etsy or Chrono24 too. Most vintage dealers set prices way above what you'd pay by being patient and waiting for what you want to pop up on eBay. One exception I can think of who takes an interest in Gruen would be Bryan at artdecowristwatches.com. His watches are generally priced to sell, and usually do fairly quickly.

And if you are the pristine dial type. Not cheap.

The best place is the local shows if your are in the US of A. The Florida show is one of the best in the country with 5 days and 300 tables of goodies. See the forum news for details and the NAWCC Events page.

Cheers!

Yes, he has really nice watches but a little pricey.
