Salut Laurent,

I'd be happy to buy you a airline ticket. I know you'd enjoy the scenery.

or take a nice sail ride and see the sea lions in Puget Sound, moi at the wheel.

Salut Gary,

Je te remercie beaucoup, mais je ne me permettrais pas d'accepter ton offre.

Même si partout dans le monde les paysages sont splendides, tes photos sont très belle. Et je te confirme, que ce serait un très beau terrain de jeu pour moi...

J'ai pris le temps de regarder sur la carte, c'est incroyable cette montagne (Mt Olympus et son park), c'est plus grand que ma région, et il n'y a rien dans un rayon de 100 kms, pas une route, pas une maison !

Moi qui aime la marche en moyenne montagne en France (GR20 en Corse, tour du Mont Blanc), je serais heureux ! Mais ça doit être un peu dangereux, il doit y avoir des gros ours sauvages, non ?

Avec l'histoire des différentes guerres en Europe (1914-1918, 1939-1945), les Français (et moi le 1er), nous avons tous en tête notre "rêve Américain". Je pense que pour beaucoup de Français, l'Amérique c'est le rêve ultime.

J'ai eu la chance de visiter 2 fois une partie des États-Unis, et je travaille dur pour y aller une 3eme fois ;-)

Hi Gary,

Thank you very much, but I would not allow myself to accept your offer.

Even if everywhere in the world the landscapes are splendid, your photos are very beautiful. And I confirm to you that it would be a very beautiful playground for me...

I took the time to look at the map, it's incredible this mountain (Mt Olympus and its park), it's bigger than my region, and there is nothing within a radius of 100 kms, not a road, not a house !

Me who loves walking in the middle mountains in France (GR20 in Corsica, Tour du Mont Blanc), I would be happy! But it must be a bit dangerous, there must be big wild bears, right ?

With the history of the different wars in Europe (1914-1918, 1939-1945), the French (and I the first one), we all have in mind our 'American dream'. I think that for many French people, America is the ultimate dream.

I had the chance to visit a part of the United States twice, and I'm working hard to go there a 3rd time ;-)
